

Amy Gillett Pathway

THE AMY GILLETT PATHWAY is a 17km cycling, walking and horse riding trail that runs through the Adelaide Hills, from Oakbank to Mount Torrens.

It's a safe and easy ride on a sealed bitumen track, separate from the road. Following the course of an old railway line, most of the Pathway is flat or has a super-gentle incline over several kilometres.

Named after Amy Gillett, a member of the Australian women's cycling team before she was tragically killed while training in Germany in 2005, the Pathway was built as part of a nation-wide program initiated by family and friends to encourage people to enjoy cycling and, importantly, to do so in perfect safety.

This project received grant funding from the Australian Government.

Australian Government
National Recovery and Resilience Agency

Government of South Australia

Adelaide Hills Council

Stop for a break along the way ...

Refer to the numbers on the map over the page for attraction locations along the Pathway.

① BIKE ABOUT Bike Hire, Supplies and Repairs

Bike About in Woodside offers standard and electric bikes for daily hire. Collect them (and a map of local wineries) from the Woodside Providore. If you're on an electric bike the Pathway will be a breeze, in fact a full 34km return trip shouldn't be out of the question.

bikeabout.com.au

② BARRISTERS BLOCK PREMIUM WINES

The cellar door is quite literally on the track with a spread of shady lawns, animals, sandpit, tasting room and a rustic tin shed supported by coarse gum boughs. It offers lunch and tastings of its award winning wines seven days a week. Check the website for opening times:

barristersblock.com.au

③ MELBA'S CHOCOLATE FACTORY

Surrounded by other iconic food and drink businesses, Melba's is a sweet-toothed time warp with its lovely old signage and time-honoured chocolate and confectionery such as the iconic Inch Licorice Block, Traffic Lights and Milk Chocolate Raspberries. Production is often underway and in view. melbaschocolates.com.au

④ LOBETHAL ROAD WINES

The environmentally sustainable cellar door offers tastings and lunch in its cosy tasting room, courtyard and gardens overlooking the vines. Check the website for opening times: lobethalroad.com

Woody Trails BMX Track

If you've got kids – or you've got an inner kid busting to get out – be sure to stop at the Woody Trails BMX track adjacent to the Pathway in Woodside.

Test out the earthy jumps, bowls and 'pump bumps', and there's also a bike repair station.

Optional Detour Loop

With a first glimpse of vines at Wicks Estate, you can choose to turn on to Riverview Road and take a 7.5km detour through wine country that's home to the cellar doors of Simon Tolley Wines, Petaluma and Artwine. This detour runs along Pfeiffer Road, joining back up to the Pathway via Quarry Road.

! This detour is on 80km/hr roads without cycle lanes or walking paths and should only be ridden by experienced cyclists familiar with Adelaide Hills roads.

BUT WAIT,
THERE'S MORE!

Scenic country vistas are not all you'll find along the way.

Find out more about other nearby attractions, wineries, eateries and places to stay at visitadelaidehills.com.au